Navajo.....	3	1	4
Pinal.....	4	1	5
Yuma.....	10	1	11
Yavapai.....	15	1	16
Tombstone.....	2	1	3

At said time and place the Delegates from the counties of Yavapai, Yuma, Mohave, Apache and Maricopa will meet in sub-convention to nominate a Joint Councilman; and likewise the counties of Cochise, Graham, Gila, Pinal and Pima, to nominate a Joint Councilman.

WEBSTER STREET,
Chairman Central Committee.
C. D. REPPY, Secretary.
Dated Tombstone, August 3, 1886. td

Wanted

A situation by a competent girl just from the East, to do housework. Call or address her at Prindler's grocery store, on Fremont street, near Eighth.

32-1w

The stage had its usual load this morning.

Our citizens who left here some time ago to spend the summer months, are beginning to return.

J. E. Durkee took his departure this morning for Kingston, New Mexico, to see if there is any work there for his ore teams.

A. Carrillo, Nogales; Mr. Bates, city; L. B. Hopkins, Hereford; E. W. Moore, Rucker Canyon; Frank S. Ely, city; are registered at the Occidental hotel.

Old man Eastman, who is familiarly known as Santa Claus, and old Solomon can talk more and say less in a day than any other man in the Territory.

Judge Robinson has been confined to his room since last Friday with a very serious attack of dysentery and fever. He is much better to-day, however, and expects to be upon the streets again in a few days.

Notwithstanding Judge Brichta of Nogales' prophecy, that unless it rains before three o'clock in the afternoon, there will be no rain on that day, the lightning flashed and the thunder rolled last evening, while the rain descended in torrents.

Mr. John Hill who lives below Contention, says that in an eight years residence on the San Pedro river, he never saw as much water in it as at the present time. It is a regular flood, washing away bridges, dams, etc., in its mad flight.

A Deserved Compliment.

To the Editor of THE DAILY TOMBSTONE: Tombstone, Arizona:

Early in September, 1884, I was suddenly called to Cochise county, Arizona, to take charge of the estate of my brother, the late Dr. Glendy King, of Hot Spring ranch. Finding it impracticable for me to remain long in the Territory, I selected on the recommendation of that good worthy man, Judge Peet, Mr. Alexander Freeman, a total stranger, and by order of the Probate Court he was appointed the administrator of the estate. The duty of said office having been performed by Mr. Freeman, the proceeds resulting therefrom paid over to me, and the final settlement made, I deem it proper to express my entire satisfaction with the ability, perseverance and honesty with which the duties of the sacred trust were performed, and I may add that the estate was one exceptionally difficult of settlement on account of the cattle and other property having been found in far separate distant localities, and in consequence of the numerous unknown claims presented, many of which were fraudulent, all requiring tact and courage to settle.

That the estate was settled by an honest and competent administrator in a Territory where the murderer of my brother and many other criminals remain at large unpunished, is a fact which deserves notice in THE DAILY TOMBSTONE.

Respectfully,
CAPT. J. W. KING,
Chief Engineer U. S. Navy.
MOHONK LAKE, Ulster County, New York, July 28, 1886.

It Didn't Work.

Some time since we published a letter in these columns from E. G. Ashmun and Bob Kenny, from Santa Monica. In that letter they stated that the landlord of the hotel and themselves had had some trouble regarding their board bill, and that Bob had gone to procure a rope by which means they intended lowering their gripsacks into the backyard of the hotel, and making their way to San Diego. They succeeded in getting the rope and lowering their baggage, but a cross-eyed daughter of the landlord, whom they had not flirted with, was in the yard at the time and received all their worldly goods. They then lit out for Los Angeles over the tie route, and have postponed their visit to San Diego until such time as Providence or some other good samaritan, comes to their relief, and rescues their baggage from the hotel man and his cross-eyed daughter. THE TOMBSTONE in response to a request for a small donation will have to decline, as it has nothing but silver in the bank at present, and the price is too low to be of any use to them in Santa Monica.

A Pilgrim Heard From.

The following telegram was received last evening from County Assessor Burke, who is now sojourning in San Francisco:

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4, 1886.

EDITOR DAILY TOMBSTONE:—Immense enthusiasm all along the line yesterday. Wound up to-day by Joe Pascholy slipping his cable and taking Miss Leona Hayes as a future partner in the hotel business. I have been promised that my interest in the hotel shall remain undisturbed. All the boys say that 'Frisco is larger than Tombstone.

W. R. BURKE.

The War on Catting.

Prices on the remainder of my entire stock are 50 cents on the dollar. Seeing is believing. Come and secure bargains, of Herman Welisch, Old Summerfield Store. 8-5-1w

Races! Races!

On Sunday next, there will be a grand afternoon of races at Doling's Race Track. The first race will be a quarter mile race for a purse of $50, $10 entrance, four to start. The second a 600 yard race for a purse of $50 five to start, entrance $10. Don't kick but walk right up to the Captain's office and settle. All entries close at Doling's saloon on Thursday evening. 8-4td

Henry Dubacher of Bisbee, has a caution notice in another column which everybody would do well to read.

Wedding Bells.

Yesterday afternoon in San Francisco, California, our fellow townsman, Joe Pascholy, led to the altar Miss Leona Hayes, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. Hayes of the Babacomari. It has been known for some time that the couple were engaged but they both kept the date of the marriage a profound secret, and not until our friend Burke hit the wires, did we know that it was coming off so soon, but THE TOMBSTONE hastens to offer its congratulations, and hopes that the young couple who have started out with such bright prospects, may travel down life's pathway hand in hand until their allotted time is run, and that they may pass peacefully away surrounded by their children and grand children, without ever knowing a cause for sorrow or dissension.

The A. O. U. W. meet this evening.

Mrs. W. H. Peck will arrive in this city to-night from Los Angeles.

George Meyers returned last evening from a visit to Santa Monica.

Mexican ten cent pieces are now at a discount.

Russ Mansfield is sick, and has left Santa Monica and gone to Paso Robles hot springs for his health.

Col. L. B. Hopkins, father of our fellow townsman W. B. Hopkins, arrived in this city last evening.

According to the Tucson papers the Santa Cruz valley has been inundated by a flood.

Mr. W. H. Peck left this afternoon for Fairbank to meet his wife who will arrive on this afternoon's train.

We received a very pleasant call this afternoon from Mr. L. B. Hopkins, Deputy U. S. Marshal of California.

It looks very much just as we go to press, as though we will be visited by our regular shower this evening.

The Rescue Hose company held their regular monthly meeting last evening.

Lost.—A stone off the top of a bracelet the finder will be rewarded by returning the same to this office.

Under Sheriff Reppy to day sold at sheriff sale seven mines and one ten stamp mill in Dos Cabezas district for $1,000. Land shark Berry was the purchaser.

U. S. Marshal Meade came in last evening from Los Angeles where he has been in attendance upon the Supreme Court of Arizona, which recently met in that city.

In the case of Hill et al vs. E. Leonard to quiet title of water on the San Pedro, Judge Street rendered the decision in the favor of the plaintiff.

Our old friend W. M. Constable, who has been confined to his room by sickness for several days, we are pleased to learn has almost recovered, and will be able to attend to business within a few days.

Mr. J. M. Nash and wife, and Mr. Proops took their departure to-day for California ranch, in the Sulphur Spring valley, where they will remain until to-morrow.

Joe Bignon returned last evening from Kingston. He says that it is a good place for his business, but that there are a great many more people there than can get employment.

Herman Welisch announces in another column that the balance of his goods now on sale at the old Summerfield store, will be sold this week for fifty cents on the dollar; go and get a bargain.

There is an individual who resides near THE TOMBSTONE office that has become the possessor of a flute, and he does not miss a moment, day or night in his practice. If the police find his dead and mangled body lying near the custom house, they can come to this office and find his slayer.

Billy Sprague, at one time the popular manager of the Bird Cage theater in this city, who has been at the Arkansas Hot Springs for several months, returned to this city last evening. Billy looks healthy and sound as a dollar, all of which THE TOMBSTONE is glad to note, as he has had more than his share of ill health during the last two years.

BLOWN UP.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cowan blown up by powder last night.

This morning at about 1 o'clock the residents of the eastern end of this city had their slumbers disturbed by the loud report of an explosion. Hastily throwing on some clothing a number of men women and children repaired to the residence of Mr. Wm. Cowan on Fremont street near the corner of Ninth where a scene of desolation met their gaze. The neat cottage of a few hours before was now an unsightly wreck.

A Reporter of THE TOMBSTONE was immediately upon the spot and at once commenced an investigation of the house. The windows were all shattered and the doors were blown off their hinges, while in the center of the bedroom was a large can that had once held black blasting powder while all over the floor were scattered empty cartridges. A large hole had been blown through the floor and the carpets were on fire but were soon extinguished. No reason or cause for the explosion could be found as Mr. Cowan and his family were not at home being at their ranch in the Sulphur Spring valley where they spend most of their time. What caused the explosion or how the powder happened to be there will probably never be known. A theory that the house had been struck by lightning was advanced but this could not have been the case without the roof being damaged. If it was done through maliciousness the wretch who done it should if caught be saved the agony of a trial and hung to a telegraph pole at short order.

Orange Blossoms.

It is an old saying that love laughs at locks and bars, and it is a fact in the case that we are to write about.

Some time since George McFeely became enamored of Miss Clara Fulkerson, a pretty young Miss of about fifteen summers, and the attachment was returned. Soon however, the material portion of the young lady's family became aware of the tender passions of the young people, and determined to end it then and there; but alas, she had reckoned without her host, for when she informed the young lady that the dark gray walls of a convent would hide her from her lover, the young lady informed her intended of the fact, and he quietly sent her to friends of his, where habeas corpus papers and offers of reward could not reach her, and when the hour arrived for her to bid farewell to love and the world, and enter the sacred precincts of a convent, she had disappeared. After an absence of a week, her lover procured a team and easily found his willing bride, and came to town and was quietly married to her last evening by the Rev. J. H. Tuttle.

The bridegroom, Geo. McFeely, is a sober and industrious young miner who is well known in Tombstone and who has the respect of all with whom he has come in contact.

The bride is a handsome brunette of a bright and vivacious nature, who has hosts of friends in camp who have known her since she was a we small girl.

THE TOMBSTONE wishes to offer its congratulations together with those of the many friends of the happy young couple, who have braved everything for each others love, and trusts that the bark of matrimony which they have so successfully launched, will sail over the matrimonial sea, until they reach a ripe age, and that it will never strike upon the rocks of adversity.

Not a Desirable Pet.

Last evening as Mr. Allan R. English was out walking with his wife and little boy they turned the corner of Bruce and third street when the child began acting very strangely screaming and jumped up and down as in great bodily fear. His mother tried to quiet him but it was of no avail for he still continued his strange actions. His father then instituted a search for a cause of the child's actions when he beheld a large Gila Monster which had been nibbling at the child's heels as he walked along. Mr. English then picked up some stones and tried to dispatch the reptile but it escaped into an alfalfa patch on the grounds of Mr. A. D. Walsh. The child was almost scared to death and all through last night would wake up with a start and scream.

TELEGRAPHIC.

Grand Army Parade.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3—Since early this morning the streets have been thronged with men women and children eager to secure a good place to see the grand parade of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Owing to the large number of posts and men participating in the parade, the procession did not start until 11 o'clock.

The department of California was the first in the line of march of the G. A. R. delegates.

After the department of California came a number of eastern delegations. Conspicuous among these was the delegation from New York with its forty battle-worn and bulletrent flags which hung in tatters from their staffs and which were reverently saluted by the spectators with raised hats and then loudly and continuously cheered. Commander-in-Chief Burdette officers of the G. A. R., Generals Sherman and Logan who occupied carriages in the parade were picked out by the crowd along the route of the parade for marks of vociferous welcome and the cheers which poured forth for them continued to follow them like a wave.

Nearly all the delegations had some conspicuous and interesting feature which called out the plaudits of the spectators. Among them were two drummer girls attached to one of the California visiting delegations. Another was a young girl in the custom of the "Daughter of the Regiment."

The line of march extended as follows: South on Van Ness avenue from Jackson to Market, east on Market to Kearney, north on Kearney to Montgomery avenue then into Montgomery south to Market, Third to Mission where the commands were dismissed. The review by the G. A. R. officers Governor Stoneman Mayor Bartlett and distinguished persons took place at Lotta's fountain at the intersection of Kearney and Market streets. Each band greeted General Sherman's appearance with the air of "Marching Through Georgia."

Never before have so many people been seen on the streets of San Francisco as to-day. The most of them were of course visitors from the interior of California and other Pacific coast states. The parade from the start to the finish was a triumphal one. Amidst the cheers that were heartily given to the various delegations as they passed by, it was the general remark that those from the eastern states all though numerically small met with even greater applause than did those from the northern ones due perhaps to a feeling of sympathy that the difficulties that they had to encounter during the war were even greater than were those of northern soldiers.

As the procession was moving up Market street the carriage in which Gen. Sherman was sitting was suddenly attacked by six handsomely dressed young ladies armed with baskets of flowers who, with ringing cheers and laughter opened fire on the General pelting him with roses. The General gracefully raised his hat and amid the cheers of the spectators bowed repeatedly in acknowledgment of his defeat. As the day was delightfully cool no accidents from the heat are reported.

California's New Senator.

SACRAMENTO August 4—Both houses of the legislature met at one o'clock this morning and immediately proceeded to elect a United States senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator John F. Miller which vacancy since Miller's death has been filled by George Hearst appointed by Governor Stoneman. A. P. Williams chairman of the republican state central committee who was nominated by the republican caucus a few hours before was nominated and received a majority of the votes of both houses. The vote of both houses on joint ballot stood: Williams 70; Hearst, 24.

One More Demand.

WASHINGTON August 4—A member of the foreign affairs committee holding close relations with the administration states to-night the adoption of the Cutting resolution should they pass to-morrow would imply much more than is generally supposed. "In the first place," he said "Mexico has been asked to release the man Cutting Mexico has refused and given reason. The resolutions declare these reasons insufficient and request the president to renew the demand. Should this renewed demand be refused our minister will at once be withdrawn and then probably an extension of congress would have to be called."
